

Wildlife Viewing Etiquette

Our viewing behavior can also harm the animals we are looking for unless we take special care.

Please keep these considerations in mind.

- Observe from a distance so the wildlife being watched are least disturbed.
- Never chase wildlife or pick up their young even if the parents are not visible.
- Leave feathers, egg shells, nests and even dead animals where you find them.
- Respect other viewers to avoid intruding on another person's enjoyment.
- Limit the time you spend closely viewing any animal.
